

Workshop: Global Design and Manufacturing: Regulatory Challenges of Risk Sharing Partners

Abstract

This workshop will focus on the regulatory challenges associated with a very dynamic aviation industry where alliances, partnerships and other outsourcing arrangements are becoming much more prevalent. What does this mean in consideration of traditional roles and responsibilities of all parties: the OEM, partners, suppliers, and regulatory authorities? Just as every program is unique, the “partnership” agreements within them are equally unique. It is not uncommon to see such arrangements span all aspects of a program from design, manufacture, integration, certification support to post-production support. The presentations supporting this workshop will address the realities of these arrangements from the perspective of both the certifying authority and industry, and will also address how authorities and industry can support one another in this dynamic environment.
